My CC Certificate Experience

Donna Langille (she/they)

Open Education Librarian

University of British Columbia Okanagan

Introduction

- Academic librarian since 2019
- Completed CC Certificate in 2020
- Open education portfolio since 2021

Context

- I was working as the Community Engagement Librarian and OE advocacy was relatively new on our campus
- Co-Chair of the Open Education Working Group
- Minimal knowledge of CC licenses

Lessons / Highlights

- Nuances of ShareAlike and NonCommercial restrictions and conditions
- Differences between collections and adaptations
- How licenses might be misunderstood / dispelling myths and misconceptions
- How to advocate for OE

Outcomes

- Reusable assignments (e.g. I created a series of CC infographics using Canva)
- Peer support
- Ideas for teaching

Impact on current work

- New OE portfolio
- Support OER grant funded projects
- Provide CC and OER workshops
- Support instructors on open pedagogy assignments (e.g. zines, digital exhibits, etc.)

Thank you!

Donna Langille (she/they)

Introduction

- Professor of Teaching, Philosophy
- Academic Director, Centre for Teaching, Learning, & Technology
- UBC Vancouver

Experiences taking CC Certificate

Posted assignments on my blog: https://v.gd/ch_cccert

Why I did the program in 2018

- Work on open education awareness, advocacy, and research since ~2014
- Wanted more expertise on copyright & CC licenses to better help others

Some things I learned

- CC as an org & community: history, objectives, impacts
- Terminology: e.g., free, open, fair dealing, public domain
- Basics of copyright
- CC license details
- Remixing: What is an adaptation? What is a collection?
- OER, OEP, open access

What else I really appreciated

- Brief readings with lots of useful links for more info
- Materials available after course as OER
- Connections w/other participants & experts
- Assignments that can be used outside the course as well

Impacts

Benefits for later work
